TERMS. ONE YEAR. SIX MONTHS

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 30, 1896 The Colleges throughout the State have pened up with increased attendances, This is an indication of prosperity.

In Louisiana and North Carolina the Democrats and Populists have fused on He said he took occasion in his two the electoral ticket, which makes those States safe for Bryan.

The election for State and County officers takes place in Georgia next Tuesday. It is believed the fight will be close be tween the Democrats and Populists.

From the ovations Bryan is receiving wherever he goes it looks as if he would sweep the country, but such demonstrations are not always a safe criterion.

For the past six years the legislative bodies in this State have been taking suggestions "as a cat laps milk," Will a change come with a new administration?

There will be a dozen, more or less, o the Legislature will select the best and most competent candidate, the people will be satisfied.

The Columbia Evening News now takes the afternoon dispatches. Editor Reynolds, who is a fluent and level-headed writer, has considerably improved the News since he took charge of it.

Hector H. Lane, president of the American Cotton Growers' Association, says the present crop of cotton will fall short of 7,500,000 bales. He advises the farmers to hold their crops, and sell grad-

Queen Victoria completed the sixtieth year of her reign last Wednesday. This s the longest rule on record of a British onarch. The Queen is now seventy ven years of age, but is a fairly wellserved old lady.

Attorney General Barber has stated that he will reduce the engrossing clerks for the next Legislature to eight. One will be appointed from each judicial cirerit and that on recommendation of the Solicitor. No applicants need write to Mr

The pension roll of the government has steadily increased since 1861. During the first year of the war the number of federal pensioners was only 8,638. The last fiscal year, however, ending June 30, 1896, disclosed the fact that 970,524 names are enrolled, and the list continues to increase every year.

If Mr. Bryan is elected President, he would have no trouble in selecting his Secretary of the Treasury from Anderson. We have a few men who have never been able to manage their own finances successfully, but they could give him a few points on how to manage the finances of this great government.

Senator Tillman says Bryan is a winnar. "I have great faith," said he, "in Bryan's election. I calculate on every State west of the Mississippi and south of the Potomac and Ohio, and we have a good fighting chance in New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Illinois and Indiana are absolutely saie. We may lose Wisconsin, and Michigan is doubtful."

Samps. Pope has accepted the nomination from the "Lily White" Republicans. Samps, was an independent candidate for he same position two years ago and reeived over 25,000 votes, not for himself, but as a protest against his opponent. But he will come up missing this time. for the Democracy have an honest, worthy gentleman to vote for this time in the person of Gen. Ellerbe

The Farmers' Institute held at Laurens two weeks ago was very instructive President Craighead, Prof. McGee and others, of Clemson College, conducted the Institute. Many interesting subjects were discussed, and every farmer present was doubtless benefited. President Craighead announces that he will go to any County in the State and conduct an Institute. Why should not Anderson County have one? Let some of our energetic farmers take hold of the matter and consult President Craighead about holding an Institute in Anderson.

Sam Jones has the proper appreciation of a newspaper man. He pays the following deserved tribute to the profession: "If I want to get a right square judgment I'd rather go into a newspaper office than a court of justice. No man, whose life is true, pure and just, is afraid of all the newspaper presses in America. They are the best detective forces in the country to-day. They have punctured more shams than any other agency, and as far as I am concerned, I say take the bridles off and let them go. The only ones that will be hurt will be the shams and frauds."

. In a card to the Greenville News. Mr John B. Cleveland, Receiver of the P. R. & W. C. R. R. Co., says his "Road was not in any way responsible nor had it anything to do in fixing the rates lately established by the Southern Railway to or from junctional points or local points on the Southern Railway." He also says that in no manner, shape or form, either directly or indirectly, is the P. R. & W. C. R. R. controlled by the Southern or by any other company in which the here may be supposed to have an Representative Cobb, of Mo., who says he hasn't told anybody whether he is for Bryan or the Indianapolis ticket, says he is satisfied that Bryan will carry Missouri Of the general result Mr. Cobb says: "I think that in the Presidential contest it is as yet anybody's race. There is no vast significance about that Maine election. McKinley, of course, will get the eastern and middle States; Bryan will get nearly everything, if not all, in the west and south, and there is the middle west to fight over. The third ticket will draw from both sides, and it is a question of which it will hurt the most-a question that one man knows as much about as

Cof. J. L. Orr, President of the Piedmont Cotton Mills, returned last Saturday from a business trip to New York. In an interesting interview with a reporter for the Greenville News, he spoke of the asked what the cotton men thought of the cotton crop. He replied that he found middle of November."

A Talk with Tillman.

AIKEN, September 25 .- Senator B. R. Fillman arrived in Aiken this morning via the Atlantic Coast Line en route to is home at Trenton. As he had several hours to wait he went up to the Busch House and took breakfast and rested. On hearing that the Senator was at the Busch your correspondent went down and called on him, and had a pleasant chat of about ten or litteen minutes. He did not appear to be the least fatigued, and was quite talkative. He had been making speeches in Pennsylvania and other places North, and spoke twice in North Carolina yesterday.

In reply to my question as to how did he find polities in North Carolina he answered: "The worst mixed up you ever saw." The Populists had combined with the Democrats on the electoral ticket, and with the Republicans on Congressmen. b—. To do this iffectively he paved the way by first pitching into the old line Democrats—the old ollgarenty. He said he couldn't tell what would be the result of these combines, as they were made by the Populist leaders, and not by the mass

As to the chances of Bryan in Penn sylvania Mr. Tillman was not enthusias-tic. His attention was called to Col. Mc Clure's estimate of the vote in Pennsylvania, published in to-day's Augusta Chronicle, in which Col. McClure said Chronicle, in which Col. McClure said McKinley would have 300,000 majority. Mr. Tillman pooh-poohed this, and said the Damocrats would reduce the usual Republican majority in that State and gain some Congressmen.

In reference to the general outlook for the success of the Bryan ticket Mr. Tillman said it was good. From the information he gathered from travelling men and from committeemen that he met in Washcandidates to succeed Judget Earle. If ington and elsewhere he has been led to believe that Bryan will carry every State West of Ohio, and the Democrats have a good fighting chance in Ohio. And, he dded, "we've got to elect Bryan." Mr. Tillman was next asked about the truthfulness of the telegraphic report that "he had been howled down at Reading, Pa." Without denying or affirming the report, he said the article taken from the Reading Eagle and published in Thursday's Columbia Register was correct. The conversation at this juncture turned on State politics, on the Senator's own motion. He began by asking, "What's the news down here?" To this your cor-respondent answered, "Nothing much low; plenty of dry weather, with politics "I see you have turned John down since I left," the Senator continued. Well, he defeated himself. That letter of his on the eve of the second primary was enough to defeat him. I advised him against sending out that letter. On my way north 'John' got on the train at Columbia and rode with me between the two depots, and showed me the letter, but I did not have time to read it all over. I told him then if he published that letter it yould defeat him. The next thing I knew," said the Senator, "the letter was published. Senator Tillman said John took no-body's advice; the Senatorial affair was the worst bungled affair he ever saw. He advised John to pay no attention to Dun can and ignore him altogether, but on every stump John would refer to Dun-can, and would endeavor to answer every charge, except the one important charge he should have answered—the charge that referred to himself (Til-man) as having lined his own pockets-this heignored. "Some time ago 'John' told him about what he had found out about Mixson and the rebates, and he tuen advised 'John' to remove Mixson, and warned him that if he did not and it was found out on him that he knew of this rascality, and as Gov-ernor took no action, he would be defeated in his race for Senator "

The Senator thought "John" displayed very little knowledge of human nature, but he is young yet," the Senator added, and has plenty of time to learn. I don' think the people really think that John is guilty of those charges that have been made against him-except those whose minds are full of prejudice. As to the bond matter 'John' did nothing more than any other lawyer would have done -accepted a fee for his services."

Messrs. G. T. Holley and Spann H.

Holley came in the hotel office at this juncture to call on the Senator, and the conversation ceased. The Senator shook bands with his corresp indent at parting and said, "I am glad to have met you."— Special to News and Courier.

King Corn.

To the Editor of the State: To a man interested in the development of his State, anything that will develop the State attracts his attention. The criticism that the South is lazy is false. It is beleved over the West and East, however. ust because we do not rush after the ings of this life. A walk out on the Winnsboro road caused me to see one of he instruments in common use on the farms North and West-a corn husker. This machine is a great labor-saving ma-chine, and is well worth investigation by our farmers. It shucks the corn and gives a clean ear. The old-time corn nucking and its song and drinking is a thing of the past. The farmer brings to the machine his corn crop—stalk, blade and ear, feeds everything into the machine and gets everything back—the clean ear in one place, the stalk and blade ready for food in another. And the stock eats everything This day, when the aving of all that can be saved is a growing question, and which must be met, has a partial enswer for the farmer in the corn husker and sbredder. A different practice from corn raising than that we use must come into use. It is to plant more corn to the hill, and cut the corn stalk and all, just as the fodder ripens About a third more good fodder is made from each stalk. The wise can run and

Talking to one farmer about planting three or four grains of corn to the hill, the statement was made that "the land could not raise more than one good stalk" This statement was rather dis-heartening, but when it is found that the land does raise more than one ear to the hill, and that some of the labor-saving devices, as well as money saving devices are being used by some of our advanced armers, you pick up heart rgain and continue to work for the building up of

We will have to do away with our system of corn planting and make use of a better. Better, because in corn States the plan in use is the result of time and experiment, and proved by long use. One of the b st of Carolina's men-planter-said that he had tried the northern way of harvesting corn one year and thought it a failure. His experiment was made 30 years ago Today two farmers trying it say they would not return to the old way. Plow the land with a two-horse plow, harrow, roll, then harrow, and leave the land level; cultivate just as long as possible. When the blade on the ear begins to glaze send into the field the corn harvester, the greatest labor-saving machine for a corn raiser that exists Treat the corn just as you would wheat Leave it in the field shocked up to cure. At odd times have your core shucking. Barn manure is the great fertilizer. Result, two to four times as CLOUGH W. SIMS.

Got Them all Guessing.

Cotton men spend most of these pleas ant September days guessing how big the crop is going to be. Even those of them dollars on the clusive but seductive future market guess and guess and guess again day in and day out. Of course there is earthly way of solving the riddle at this stage of the proceedings, and everybody has a right to an opinion. One man's ideas about it are just about as good as those of another, and it is a toss of a penny as to whether the guess made by the expert dealer is not farther off than that of the man whose knowledge of cotton is gathered from what he sees of it as it crawls through the streets piled up on the big drays.

This season has been a law unto itself A month or so ago everybody was con-vinced that the biggest crop ever known was to be made. Then the rumors of injuries started, and after a great deal of reluctance everybody concluded that the crop was going to be short and many people thought very short. The guessing went from one extreme to the other in a very brief space of time. The price of futures in the meantime had risen something over two cents. It was thought that the crop would be

But itstill remains to be seen whether the falling off in receipts will begin so early as it was predicted would be the case. There is where the guessing comes mountains.

If the crop is really a very short one it will not be many weeks now before the market is no longer as wild as it used to be. Mr. Carswell is Still a Baptist.

HOLLAND'S STORE S. C., Sept. 26, 1896. Messrs Lditors: You remember you noble-hed a clipping from the Elberton Ga) Tribune in the INTELLIGENCER Weel pefore last, stating that Rev. E R. Cars well had professed a new faith and had oined the Presbyterian Church Always being a friend of Mr. Carswell, we at once wrote him for the truth, believing the report was hatched up by the old band o nissaries that always follwed in his wake not able to stand before him in a hand to hand combat, but would sneak in the dis tance and in the dark seeking to undermine his character and injure him in every way

We are glad, for the sake of the Elberton editor and those concerned in starting the report, that the punishment of liars is not near so rigorous as in the days of Ananias and his wife. We append, for the benefit of those who have been so elated, a letter from Mrs. Carswell, which we hope you will print and oblige. Yours truly, A. B. SULLIVAN.

GONZALES, TEXAS, Sept. 21, 1896. MR A. B SULLIVAN—Dear Brother: Your letter found my husband away from home, so it devolves upon me to answer Mr. Carswell is still a Baptist and will be till he dies I say this because I heard him say that if he were turned out of the Baptist Caurch, he would lie at the door of a Baptist Church and knock for admit-ance until Jesus comes, for said he, "there is nothing else to join." He said this when Dr Cranfil, of the Standard, accused him of being a Cambellite, and that he preached their doctrines. Toe clipping you sent is totally false. Right funny that Armistead, a Methodist, should convert him to the Presbyterian faith. They did not have a discussion He came to Douglassville, and was there three weeks, and challenged Mr Carswell for a discussion. Mr. Carswell told the Methodists that if they would indorse him he would discuss. They finally decided to do so, and the discussion commenced. But Mr. Carawell was taken down with the gripps and was sick two weeks. Armistend wrote the Atlanta Evening Journal that the preacher had been made sick by his docto dosing him. He had been following Mr. Carawell around so long, I believe he was induced to do it by some of the Methodists. You know how Mr. Carswell baptized the Pedoes in Elberton. In West Point he beptized a number, and had so many on the fence, trying to make up their minds, when this same Armistead came and got up a row and stopped the work. In ouglassville he baptized thirteen of their number. The devil has to put in his work every time, and I have been looking for he old man to come to Texas. We have been living in this place over ive years. We are very much pleased Texus, though my health has been We are contemplating moving higher up in Texas for health's sake Mr Carswell is in Mississippi now hold ing meetings. His Church let him off for the month of September. He speke of going on to Georgia and South Carolina this fall. He has done a great work in Texas, and preaches the grand old doc-trines of the Bible with greater power and efficiency than ever. The soft, wishy-washy Baptists are harder on him out here than the Pedoes. We have been flooded with letters from Elberton, Hartwell, Anderson and other places in reference to this thing. We are having a "pic nic" hearing from our tried and true friends. Pray for and battle harder than ever for the truth for the night cometh when we cannot ork. Yours in Christian love,

WELL, WELL

Here I am in sweet old Anderson once more. Here I am looking in familiar faces each day as before. Everything rolling on as calmly and serene, just as if C. S. Minor had never been away.

WELL, I find that there has been lots of things turned topsy-turvy since I have been gone, and I have not the heart this morning to turn them right side up again. I am inclined to let the old thing roll on, just like the boys started her while I was away. It's lots of fun, if it aint no profit, and I know we don't have to have profit every time. We don't always get profit by a long shot. Well, that's been one of the plans of my business for seven years—not to expect all profit—and it seems the less profit I take the more money I make, so on that plan here we go:

We have got about 3,000 packages of the famous CELLULOID STARCH, which we will sell at 5c. a package. We have got about 1,500 sample pickages supposed to be free, but which we will sell at a nominal price in order to introduce the line of goods, and yet we sell to be sure that only those persons will get it who will have some idea of Starch when they try it. The samples will sell at one cent each. If you want to be in the swim and have a stiff shirt front and collars and cuffs on like new ones, get a sample puckage of Celluloid Starch and you will think you have got a new wash-woman

We have got a LAMP for 35c. that I saw selling while away at 75c. I I think this is one of the biggest bargains that we have ever been able to show in a Lamp. It's a very large size and the prica is the bottom. We have a Lamp—a very large Lamp, porcelain fount and shade, decorated in very highest art style, which we will sell at 955. I saw this Lamp selling: at $150 in one of those so-called cheap Stores where crowds and crowds of people swarm like bees. We have got a few dozen 403, and 503. Overalls that we are going to let we have got a few dozen 405. and 505. Overalls that we will let go at 40c. per pair, and 50c. overalls that we will let go at 40c. per pair, and 75c. ones at 50c. per pair. Jackets to match at the same price. We have got a few dozen of 75c. Jeans Pants which we will let go at 50c. per pair. The biggest value on Jeans Pants that has ever beau offered in this section. Don't buy Jeans Pants until you see these. We are still selling a two quart Coffee Pot at Sc. and the No. 6 Wash Pan at 3c., and the No. I Dipper at 3c In fact, the wind that Che-hire raised in the Tinware is still blowing. The Glassware and Crockery are still going like swollen waters leaping from the dizzy precipics. The prices are so low. We offer you a one-gallon Glass Oil Can at 253., half-gallon Pitchers at 15c.

We are giving you now a 25c Lunch Basket for 15c. If you have to take a lunch be sure and see this basket. When you come to Town ask us to show you our Mammoth Goblet—the biggest in the world. Each Goblet holds a haif gallon. May be you don't want a set, and may-be you do. At any rate you will be interested to look Well, I have come back with the determination to run the thing to the advantage of all concerned. We are going to do the biggest do that we have ever done. We are going to make the figures, or, as the Electrician would say, we will press the button and you will do the rest. Figures will be so attractive that you can't help it when you once see the button pressed. We
